

Improving your performance

Mavom does whatever it takes to find the right chemistry for your application. We have many years of experience with various challenges in all kinds of industrial sectors. That is why we know which chemistry works best for you.

In our wide range of products we find a high-quality solution for every problem. We have no preference for a specific brand or technology. You can expect independent product advice from us.

If possible, we test whether the product actually gives the results you want. In addition, you can count on technical support for the use, application or dosing of the product and we advise on the required equipment. In some cases, after implementation, we carry out measurements and analyses and adjust where necessary. In this way we work together with you to improve the performance of your product or process.

Wide product range

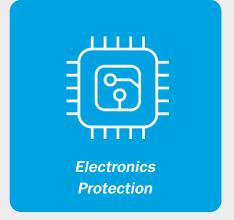

Mavom offers a wide range of specialty chemicals. Products for better adhesion, smoother operation, longer life span and good protection. Within each category, you will find various technologies and products with suitable properties for your specific application. Whichever chemical requirements you are looking for, you will find the answer with Mavom.

A lubricant reduces resistance and prevents early wear and failure of productiontools. We offer a complete range of high quality industrial lubricants, including bio-degradable lubricants and Food Grade lubricants for the food industry.

Silicones are versatile products. They are resistant to UV light and they remain stable at high temperatures. Among others, we distribute: silicone oils, anti foams and silicone rubber. For health care applications, we offer products for podology and medical grade silicone tubing.

Mavom offers high quality products for the protection of extremely sensitive electronic components against external influences and to dissipate heat. We supply casting resins, conformal coatings, adhesives, thermally conductive products and cleaners.

We offer various absorbents to trap leaked or spilled liquids. You can turn to us for pulp, mats, socks and rolls to make your polluted workplace clean, safe and productive again.

Products for better adhesion, smoother operation, longer life span and good protection

Mavom is a supplier of water miscible metalworking fluids and cutting oils for machining, forming, cleaning and protecting of metals. These fluids can make a significant contribution to the quality of the finished parts and a more efficient production process.

Mavom offers a range of products to protect metal parts against corrosion, for both indoor and outdoor storage. We also have the right solution for the removal of temporary protection. We offer both water based and solvent based products for automotive, aviation and industrial applications.

Adhesives can improve product reliability because they are strong, flexible and resistant to influences of chemicals, temperature and mechanical shocks. To bond materials, an adhesive can be a better alternative than using traditional joining methods like welding. We offer a wide range of chemical bonding technologies for industrial applications.

For the maintenance of industrial installations, both food and non-food, we offer a wide range of technical sprays, which include (manual) cleaning agents, lubricants, corrosion inhibitors, welding sprays, products for marking and signalling and a spray to detect gas leaks.

Mavom supplies water- and solvent-based industrial cleaning agents for various cleaning operations: immersive and ultrasonic cleaning, vapour degreasing, spray cleaning, high pressure cleaning, steam cleaning, installation cleaning, machine cleaning and cleaners for manual use.

By dispensing cyanoacrylates, UV adhesives, Silicone sealants, lubricants and other pastes and fluids in a repeatable and consistent manner, you can control the quality of your production process. We have various dispensing systems. They range from time pressure dispensing units to valves and accessories.

Smart Logistics

At Mavom we have years of experience with distributing specialty chemicals. From our own warehouse in Alphen aan de Rijn in the Netherlands, we can arrange quick delivery to customers in the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany.

Customer oriented

We gladly tailor our logistics to the needs of our customers. For example, we will keep dedicated stock for our customers at their request. We also repackage chemicals in smaller packaging units or label products with customer specific labels.

Continuous improvement

We are constantly working on improving our logistics performance. We invest in our business processes in order to increase our delivery reliability and efficiency to serve our customers even better.

Safety and Chemistry

As a distributor of dangerous goods, we pay extra attention to health, safety and the environment. It goes without saying that we know and comply with the regulations about the safe storage and transport of chemicals.

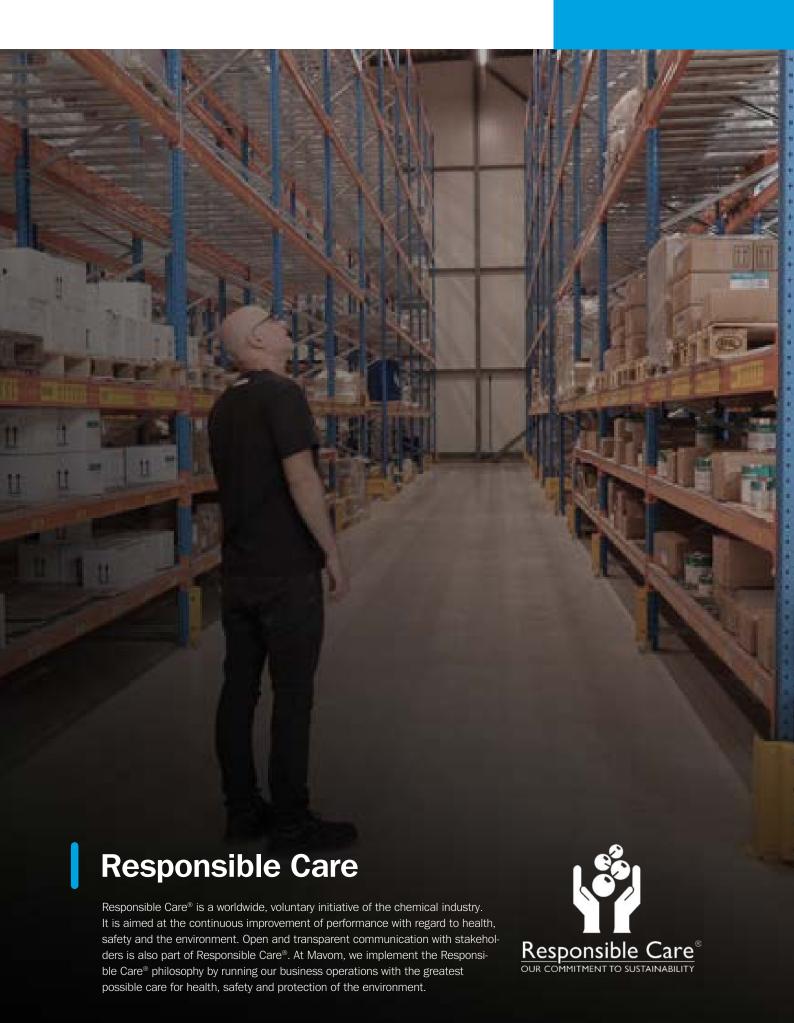

REACH and CLP

REACH is a regulation of the European Union on the production of and trade in chemical substances. REACH is an acronym for: Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals and its aim is to protect the health of human beings and the environment against the risks that chemical substances may pose. Within our QHSE Department, we ensure that we comply with all regulations. For example, we supply up-to-date Safety Data Sheets with classified products and we ensure that correct labels are placed on products in accordance with the CLP regulation. This regulation ensures that users are informed about the dangers of chemical substances.

Storage and transport

We make sure that dangerous goods are stored safely. Our warehouse is equipped with a fixed fire extinguishing system and we adhere to the Dutch PGS-15 guidelines for the storage of packaged dangerous goods. For the transport of the goods, we cooperate with certified carriers that meet all the requirements of the European ADR agreement.

Team and organisation

Mavom employs more than 50 people: office and warehouse employees; men and women; managers and trainees. Together, we are a strong and focused team. We have sales organisations in the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany. The head office and the warehouse of Mavom are located in Alphen a/d Rijn (the Netherlands).

Investing in people

We do not only invest continuously in improving our business processes, we also invest in the quality of our employees. We offer challenging positions in which employees can use their talents. Moreover, we encourage the further development of their knowledge and skills. We set ambitious objectives, based on a clear strategy. Thanks to short lines of communication, we are decisive and bold in meeting these objectives.

Core values

Mavom employs people with different personalities, backgrounds and nationalities. Despite these differences, we share the same core values that determine our identity and steer our behaviour:

CUSTOMER FOCUS

We are focused on meeting the requirements and wishes of the customer. We do everything possible to offer our customer a good solution.

COMPETENCE

Our knowledge of products and applications is the most importar asset of Mavom. We are good at what we do and maintain and develop our competences.

CREATE VALUE

With our activities we create value for our most important stakeholders: employees, customers, suppliers and shareholders.

COOPERATION

Cooperation is the only way to achieve our goals. Within the Mavom team, we help each other to realise projects and to get the work done.

We invest in the quality of our employees

Distributors Group Europe

Mavom is a member of Distributors Group Europe (DGE). DGE is an international partnership of distributors of 'specialty chemicals'. Distributors Group Europe (DGE) was founded in 1996 and is situated in Alphen a/d Rijn (the Netherlands).

European sales network

Distributors Group Europe is a European market leader in the field of lubricants, adhesives and protection of electronics. DGE has 16 members that are active in 27 European countries. Together, we have over 200 technical sales advisers in the market and we serve more than 80.000 customers. The total turnover in 'specialty chemicals' is more than 200 million euros. As DGE, we offer our suppliers a professional European sales and distribution network. At the same time, the local presence of the DGE members means we are close to the customer.

International cooperation

The members of DGE work closely together in various areas. Thanks to our joint purchasing and efficient logistics, we can offer our customers competitive prices. We work together in cross-border projects to provide a good service to our international customers. Furthermore, the members of DGE support each other by exchanging knowledge with regard to marketing, technology, supplier management and market development.
